PATENTS
FOR INVENTIONS PRODUCED BY THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY.

With the interest of those having claims against the Government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Those which cannot be easily made in employing competent and reliable solicitors to represent them, the value of the invention decreases greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid claims, the PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY has retained counsel experts in patent practice, and is therefore prepared to Obtain Patents, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Presentence Selected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions and Give Legal and Valuable Information, and Secure Injunctions, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention, hand send THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of its important features, and we will send to the best counsel to obtain the best protection, unless the invention is of a complicated nature. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

HIS FATHER'S ARREST

The way of it was this: My father, who, for reasons registered in the king's bench, was compelled to leave his native land, part of Ireland geographically known as being west of the law, was obliged, for certain reasons of family, to come up to England.

Thus he proceeded to do with due caution. Two trusty servants formed an advanced guard, and so far into the country for about five miles in advance, after them came a skirmishing party of a few tenants, who, for the consideration of some pay, were sent to bring him to justice.

"We'll get you, your honor," said his own men, armed with a blunderbuss, he opened the bedroom door.

"Not enough, Tim," said my father; "close the door, for I haven't finished my breakfast."

Now the real truth was that my father's attention to his son concerned a scene which was taking place in a field beneath his window.

"We'll get you, your honor," said his own men, armed with a blunderbuss, he opened the bedroom door.

"Not enough, Tim," said my father;

"close the door, for I haven't finished my breakfast."

At the moment when they assumed their posts, the patrol and the pickets falling back upon the main body, and in this way they reached that most interesting city called Kilkenny.

The sun was just rising in a delicious morning of June when my father was preparing for the road. A steamer to one of his old haunts had come to see him off to see him safe in the chaise, the passage to and from which every day being the critic of the day.

"We'll get you, your honor," said his own men, armed with a blunderbuss, he opened the bedroom door.

"Not enough, Tim," said my father;

"close the door, for I haven't finished my breakfast."

Correspondence and items of news are solicited from all sections of the Gazette. Every one knows of some interesting facts or happenings that others would like to read about.

We have a sufficient corps of regular reporters who are well informed of what is news. If there is much of interest that is not the news of the day, you can get it. Let your interest in your local paper and pride in your town lead you old in making the Gazette more bright and never

Friday, February 8, 1890.

The Faculty communiques expect to be able to make a report of something definite at their March meeting in regard to the lot of land for the Weymouth monument, the gift of Hon. Charles Francis Adams. Good, it is time something definite was done in this matter.

The Room of the North Cycle Club Opened.

The new rooms of the Norfolk Cycle Club of South Weymouth, in the Open House block, were open which have been going on for the past two weeks, were thrown open to the club members.

An audience of the rooms will show to the visitors, quarters which would reflect credit to any club and to the town in which the club is located.

There are two rooms and two entrances. One room is 12x20 ft. and is used for the dressing room; the other room is 12x20 ft. and is used as a billiard and pool room; the two basements are each 12x20 ft. and will be used for bowling and athletic purposes.

The committee on the furnishing completed the work in the satisfaction of all the members. Through this committee the Hawthorn and Lincoln clubs have united with the Norfolk club, thus making one large club with a membership of about 125.

Invitations were sent in the front of the building into the parlor, and in the rear into the billiard room. Entrances can also be had from the outside into the basement.

Invitations were sent to the members to present their respects, and were received by all the members.

F. A. Lewis, the next speaker, claimed that it was beyond the power of the meeting to reconsider or rescind the vote, as the town had refused to do so at a special meeting held a week ago.

J. J. Mahoney, again recommended reconsidering the motion, as the town was not yet drifting into debt through its expensive boards of officers and lavish expenditures, and he thought that this was only a movement to grab a little more power.

J. F. Dwyer, again supported the motion, as his friends believed they were right they should be there to vindicate their report, but as yet not one of them had spoken.

H. F. Torrey, a member of the committee, replied that the report was not entirely approved by the committee; they held several meetings and finally left the whole matter in the hands of a subcommittee of two, and the report was submitted to the committee.

It was agreed to postpone the motion to a later date.

The remainder of the evening was spent in billiard, pool and card playing.

The regular monthly meeting will be held next Monday evening.

The Latest.

A Boston paper stated recently that the Bartlett College of Business and Shortland had given to each of its students in the Advanced Department a roll-call card for their names, and asked the question, "What Next?"

That question is evidently answered by the step taken this week by the Bartlett College, in establishing a body of real men, and quoted from the Boston Chamber of Commerce reports and other sources, which completes the actuality of every transaction between the students studying the system of "Actual Business from the Start."

The writer was informed by one of the people that this feature of daily change in school prices caused the most intense interest, and that it is a common thing in the cars and elsewhere to see Bartlett College pupils coming the newspaper reports for posted hour, cost and other information—Boston Herald.

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

The column under this title will be given to the people for a discussion of all subjects. The management of the paper does not care if the views expressed are not in accordance with those of the editor.

Weymouth, Mass., Feb. 6, 1890.

To the Editor Weymouth Gazette:

I am looking over your last week's issue I find that twelve gentlemen are mentioned as candidates for the office of trustees. Now would it not be better for the voters of each Ward if the several candidates came out flat-footed and be set instead of mentioned candidates, thereby placing themselves before the public without any chance of being elected.

The result of each could then be discussed and we could go to the canvass and vote without fear of anything new being sprung upon us at the last moment.

Desiring to see my name in the actual instead of the mentioned column, I hereby nominate myself as a candidate for the office of selector from Ward 1.

THE GOOD HOUSEHOLD

THE SCREEN OF TODAY.

What This Pretty Article Shows.

Among the useful objects and necessary parts of furniture which are as essential at the tables and chairs of the household Good Housekeeping names the screen as one of the most useful adjuncts. Their uses are almost as varied as through all the varieties that are put on the market, except in those that "fashion's" sake are anti-social. And, in the kitchen, the screen plays a part of a go between and does faithful duty. On a cold winter evening when the fire is burning brightly, it is the screen which comes between the inmates and the cold air from outside, giving shelter from the biting winds.

What can be true or not, these screens at the present day, when fed on a more legitimate diet, are largely used as food by those who are able to forged their repulsive repulsive appearance to the taste of the palate. In this matter however, taste differ, and Popular Science News, from which this information is reported, has this wise and witty remark: "Screens and webs as food are entitled to all the satisfaction they obtain from them."

Known of their methods of reproduction, although some little wormlike fishes which are found in the sandy bottoms of rivers have been known to be the offspring of the lampreys. The Romans were exceedingly fond of the flesh of this animal, which they kept in ponds constructed just the purpose of holding it for the feeding upon the body of a slave to give them a better flavor.

Screening Spiders.

There is a certain species of spider which is moved by instinct at certain seasons of the year to travel, and to travel distances that no man would suspect, when there is no food. The spider selects the right kind of a day, one on which there is almost a calm in the air, or rather, when the wind is low. It creeps up a flagstaff or a bulrush or anything that will give him a free position. He then begins to emit from his body a web fluid which is so sticky that it floats away in the air and is carried along by the light breeze. He may emit 300 yards of web fluid, and then try to catch with it enough entangled to hold him. If he lets go his grip on the tree or other elevation. By a nice stroke of fortune he sees a fly which will hit him, and then, letting go his hold, the filament is broken off by the wind, and he is left at the end of it, and in this way he can enjoy the sunshine and drive insects away.

The House of Representatives by a vote of 100 to 95 voted to abolish Fast Day.

Candidates for office should read the Town Clerk's notice in another column.

Next Tuesday is Washington's Birthday. Copy should be sent to this office one day earlier in the week than usual, that we may give our employees a holiday.

Runaway Prospect Taken a More Weymouth Look.

Dr. W. A. Drak's has selected a dinner at the Queen's Hotel, Weymouth St. R. Co. This action is somewhat significant of the future policy of the road in Weymouth. Dr. Drak's views as to the desirability of an immediate extension of the road to Commercial square, East Weymouth, and through Braintree to Quincy, are well known. Knowing that he holds such decided views in favor of an immediate extension of the road, as above, does not his election by the road as a director slightly influence his action?

He is likely to employ with these ideas and are seeking his aid in carrying on the work? But it looks, and from information obtained, we have reason to think that this view of the matter is correct.

Christian Endeavor Day at the Congregational Church, East Weymouth.

The annual meeting of the Y.P.S.C. of the Congregational church on the evening of Christian Endeavor day, and postponed on account of the snow, were given last Sunday evening. The large audience present testified to the interest in the church in the Christian Endeavor movement.

The programme was full of interest throughout, from the organ prelude from Haydn's 6th Symphony rendered by R. F. Hammond to the last strains of the postlude.

The president of the society, Charles A. Matthews, in his address, spoke of the fifth chapter of Matthew which was followed by prayer by A. W. Hart and response by a quartette composed of LaForest Lincoln, T. H. Emerson, Minot P. Garey and C. W. Bailey. Mr. Randall made a short speech on "Christian Endeavor," recalling the formation of the first Christian Endeavor society in Weymouth, Portland; he spoke of the wonderful growth of the movement and of the large number of societies and members at the present time. Mr. Hart called attention to the following hymn, "The shadows of the evening hour," by Mrs. E. W. Lovell, Mrs. Frank Drew, Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Bailey.

Mrs. Martha J. Hawes' topic was "Our Society the Past Year," she reviewed the work done by the different departments.

Miss Grace Mitchell spoke on "Christian Endeavor Work in America," of the formation of societies among the Indians, negroes, and of the good work done by those.

Mrs. C. D. Canterbury followed with "Endeavor Work in Foreign Lands." Mrs. Canterbury reviewed Dr. Clark's visit to Australia, Japan, India and Turkey, and spoke of the interest shown and sacrificed made by Endeavorites of those countries.

Miss Clark has written "The Story," was kindly supplied by Mrs. Lovell, Mrs. Drew, Mr. Emerson and Mr. Bailey.

"The Ideal Prayer Meeting" as described by Mr. C. B. Cushing was worth striving to attain by to every society.

"The Social Committee's Work of the Social Committee" by Miss Lillian McGregor was full of good suggestions for this committee. Miss McGregor spoke of the greatest amount of good that could be accomplished if the atmosphere of the society was bright and cheerful than if it was cold and dark.

An excellent paper, "The Calling Committee," prepared by Mrs. C. A. H. H. was read by Fred W. Raymond.

Mrs. Mary L. Tucker, the enthusiastic leader of the choir, gave a short talk on the work of the Junior society reading and explaining the pledge of the Juniors; she spoke of the enthusiasm among the boys and girls.

The last speaker was the pastor, Rev. Daniel Evans and his eloquent remarks were a fitting conclusion to the interesting programme.

Sister Mitchell.

Mr. William Mitchell, superintendent at Mr. Wright's farm on Summer street, and Miss Laura Borton of Eastern Virginia, were married in Weymouth by the Rev. William Hyde, Friday evening, Feb. 5. William's friends extend congratulations.

Town Census.

The general census of the Republican party for the purpose of confirming the Ward nominations, completing the list of town officers will be held at the Town hall next Tuesday night.

"I was born baby in my last birth when I returned from the house it left me very nervous, so that I could not sleep still a moment, even when alone. I had various remedies but all to no effect. I was in great pain and tried to sleep and tried that. Before I had taken a half bottle I began to feel better. I have

The present Ward committee, with the addition of Henry Woodward was chosen to serve the ensuing year.

The meeting then adjourned.

EAST WEMYOUTH LADIES' CEMETERY ASSOCIATION FAIR.

Today afternoon was anything but a day either for cemetery fairs or any other business which required people to go from one place to another out of doors. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, no effort was made to carry out the Tuesday afternoon and evening program as was the original plan.

The church was beautifully decorated with plants, cut flowers and posted plants.

At 7:45 o'clock the bridal procession entered to the strains of the wedding march from the organ. Bishop, when Miss Mary Christiana Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Briggs, and Dr. Karle Henry Granger of South Weymouth were married in the presence of a large and fashionable congregation.

The church was beautifully decorated with plants, cut flowers and posted plants.

PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS

PROCUR'D BY THE

PATENT CLAIMS COMPANY.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the Government is that of inventors who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their rights. Your case cannot be excused in employing competent and reliable counsel. We have a large number of cases, and a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of giving them a better chance to succeed, THE PATENT CLAIMS COMPANY has retained counsel expert in patent practice, and is therefore prepared to obtain Patents. Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Infringements, Secure Trademarks, and Secure Letters of Patent, etc., etc.

THE PATENT CLAIMS COMPANY consists of a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to take. If you are not necessary unique the invention is of a complicated nature, it will be necessary to file a specification. If you are not unique, or if your invention is not new, you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

FARM & GARDEN

DESIRABLE FARM BRIDGES.

Simple Constructions That Are Safe, Convenient and Pleasing In Appearance.

Fortunate is the farm that has a stream or brook to span it, for a bridge, even a small one, confers many material advantages, but adds greatly to the attractiveness of a place. A large percentage of the farms of the country more or less weekly, but it will be found to be good hay and pasture land. It will usually find a heavy crop of grain, or it is cut in a green state and made into hay. Of late years the latter course has been more popular, and it is considered more favorable to the young grass where the grain is not allowed to ripen. It had good success in sowing rye and cutting as soon as it is fairly headed, making it to maturity. The old crooked stalks are not so good, but I have always had good success with rye. When grass is sown in spring with grain, it is common to sow clover, which usually gives one or two bountiful crops of grain, and the clover for a good stand of the other grasses which follow. The nature and manner of growth of clover render it of great value in a system of rotation, and it could never be omitted if one were to have a good and permanent meadow. Timothy and red top are usually sown. From a peak to half a bushel of the former and three pounds of the clear red top to the acre are about right. It is well to seed early, as we have found late sowing a valuable crop with the other grasses. The orchard grass is a favorite with some farmers. The advantages claimed for it are that it will grow in shady places, it will fully occupy the ground to the exclusion of weeds, and it is not easily killed out. My experience with it has not been satisfactory.

The first illustration shows an under-construction in which the center of the bridge is supported by two lateral braces, while power of support, arrangement of the elements is good.

The next figure shows how two spans of logs across a stream and covering these with a heterogeneous mass of stones, or it may be a footbridge, which does not deserve safety, convenience or beauty. The descriptions here reproduced from "Country Gentleman" show how farm bridges may be constructed simply, but strongly, fast enough to give an air of neatness to the work.

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE,
Friday, February 25, 1894.

Judge James H. Flirt who is a member of the House Committee on Railways, has been to the railroads the past week twice looking over the railways of that state. The street railway committee in this year one of the most important committees in the House, there being at the present time many important questions before them.

The Purify of Our Water.

Superintendent Bicknell is looking after the sanitary condition of the water shed which supplies Great Pond with water for the use of the citizens of Weymouth, and has called a hat in hand for the dumping or burying ground for dead horses in the hillsides of the pond on Wednesday he found two horses which had recently been dumped within two hundred and fifty feet of the pond, and learned of another which had been buried within a hundred feet of the pond, and he has ordered them removed at once.

Weymouth water stands at a high grade of analysis, but if people living on the water shed have no more sense of the propriety of things than to their pollute the water supply, we shall wake up some morning to find ourselves with an epidemic disease in town.

Happily the danger is now averted as the attention of the authorities has been drawn to the matter and measures will be taken to prevent any future pollution of the water shed.

Independence in Town Politics.

The past week has been one of large development in the political affairs of the town.

We are but one week removed from the election of town officers, and the next week will see us to the disbursing of somewhere in the vicinity of $120,000 of the money of the taxpayers.

There are more nominees for the several offices than has been customary in the past.

We still believe in the importance of a man's interest and as a safety valve against a monopoly of office by any one clique or clan, we also believe in sufficient independence on the part of the individual voter to make the best possible selection.

What is not to be questioned is to which party made the nomination, but is the man equal to the position? Has the candidate sufficient knowledge of the duties required of him and is he a man who will be respected in the position he should be elected?

Vote for such men, whatever party they belong to.

Our Power.

Our machinery is now driven by water power. A three-horse power Backus Water motor sets in the cellar and the water is led up to it through a three-inch pipe connecting with main of the W. P. C. system. The motor is set at the point of delivery into the motor is 55 pounds with the gravity service. When the high pressure is on this nearly doubles.

The water enters the motor through a 3½ inch jet and it is in the form of a jet against the side of the vertical pump giving the power.

The power is ample to drive our cylinder press, our four job presses and paper cutter at a high rate of speed.

It is very convenient, and always ready to apply by simply opening the valve.

The power is used in the second story by a long belt that runs through both floors, the press being on the second floor and the paper cutter on the first floor where we also propose to locate a power holding machine as an early day power holding machine.

The power is purchased of Mr. H. A. Thayer of Braintree, who deals in various kinds of motors and machinery and is connected with a large Boston house.

Mr. Thayer has shown us every courtesy in the trade and in assisting in setting the power up and we sincerely recommend him to others.

The laying of the pipe and making connections with the motor, as well as providing the drain for waste water was done by Prof. Bicknell.

He has done all the calculations and the work was done in a neat and thorough manner and the cost of valves have been paid.

Mr. Reis also arranged the rod cover trilling the values in a very handy way, allowing the power to turn on and off at a moment's notice.

It was very apparent that the party would be largely in excess of what had been anticipated, but all who received a cordial greeting and were well provided for.

At the appointed time Rev. T. J. Evans, pastor, conducted the baptismal service and were followed by a line of two hundred people, of whom a few were obliged to wait, as plates had only been laid for one hundred and seventy-six.

Divine blessing was upon the service, Rev. T. J. Evans and his wife immediately devoted themselves to the salads, escalloped oysters, cold turkey, ice cream, sherbet, frozen puddings, cake, fruits and coffee, with which the tables were well laden.

Having completed the banquets the hall was once more resorted to and the entertainment was given with a piano solo, "Al Manzur," by Miss Nellie B. Tirrell, who gave the good will of the audience and responded to the applause with a very lively and pleasing manner.

Miss Hayes, of the Boston Conservatory, sang on two continents and with the beautiful song, "Ari Marzi," which she responded with "The Rose Bush," and those who listened to a singer famous on two continents will be struck by her voice.

Mr. Thayer, of the Boston Conservatory, followed by a well meted applause, which he responded with "The Rose Bush," and those who listened to a singer famous on two continents will be struck by her voice.

CURVY YOUNG FOLKS

MONKEYS OF NORTH AMERICA.
Every Monkey of the New World Has a Tail and Often a Very Handly Tail.

In an illustrated article on the monkeys of North America a writer in the National Magazine gives the following facts:

No apes, because our tailless monkeys are found in the new world.

No monkeys with prehensile tails are found in the old world, and whenever an African or East Indian travel comes out every monkey hangs by their tails till it kills him another!
